Bordados Foronda is the oldest house in Seville dedicated to the manufacture of embroidered shawls. Currently Bordados Foronda had manufactured Manila shawls for the Spanish Royal Family, and other European Royal Houses.

The Manila shawl is associated with flamenco and Andalusian folklore, but the shawl complements the dress, also he has been used by the singers and also, in some seasons, has been used as an everyday garment.

The production is entirely handmade, only the hands of the artisans touch the products, no machine involved.

Both embroidery and fringes are processed manually.

All shawls are made with pure silk, stitch by stitch, with all the love that our Andalusian women are able to give and finished with the unmistakable Seville fringe.

Composition: Natural Silk.

Measurements might change (125 to 135 cm, depending on the stitching of the shawl).

CORRECT WAY TO PRESERVE THE SHAWLS:

1.- Washing:

Never wash at home, always at dry cleaner's.

If you see a little mark, rub it with soap with a rag below the shawl.

Then iron the shawl.

2.- Ironing:

Iron the shawl the wrong way round with vapour iron, to enhance the embroidery.

3.- Preservation:

Hang your new shawl on a hanger, recover it with a cover and keep it from the light in your wardrobe.
