'Casablanca' is more than an album. Something very spiritual wraps around it: the images, the music. The recordings create an atmosphere that seem to reflect the artist's inner-self: His mood, spirit and emotions.

Juan Peña Fernández, El Lebrijano is perhaps the most gifted cantaor of his generation. He has an excellent voice, knows cante's palos like few others and owns an ancient eco for he has always been his trademark to incorporate his race's memories. Through this album he shows us the link between flamenco and arab and jewish musics.
