This is clearly a renowned artist not only in Spain but beyond our borders. This is a sonic document that proves Paris is also capable of glowing under this maestro's spell.

Seats were scarce at the Cirque d'Hiver in Paris on 1987 to see a living legend of flamenco. A performance silently hidden which has been brought to life to the delight of his fans.

Without a doubt, Camarón is the last revolutionary of the world of Flamenco, criticized by some, idolized by others, but an innovator none the less.

Hearing Camarón is forgetting about labels, it is a true revolution; the cante straight to the senses, straight to the heart. Therefore, any of his recordings deserves attention and may this last one be welcome.
